Come and discover a vision for how worship planners might nurture respectful relationships with First Nations partners and incorporate Indigenous spirituality into Christian contexts.

This workshop will model collaborative leadership with story and song, giving participants the opportunity to explore instruments and ceremony that might be integrated into your local church context with the assistance of a local Indigenous partner.

Music and Worship Conference Leadership

Chris Fischer is Pastoral Musician at Knox Presbyterian Church in Guelph. Since 2016, he has developed two community-based initiatives which incorporate group singing to build and sustain relationships: the Circle of Song Choir (for individuals with dementia, and their caregivers and friends) at Wellington Terrace Long-Term Care Home in Fergus; and Ubuntu (Zulu: "I Am Because We Are"), a weekly multi-faith gathering for singing global songs of justice and peace.

Chris Fischer, Bruce Weaver, Scott Knarr & Gerard Yun

The 4th Annual Worship and Music Conference is supported by the Presbytery of Waterloo-Wellington, the Presbyterian Church in Canada, and the Royal Canadian College of Organists (Waterloo-Wellington Centre).

Bruce Weaver (Tehotsienhate) is a retired elementary teacher, with teaching experience in Nunavut, NWT and Region of Peel. He is a member of the Mohawks of the Bay of Quinte. He has lived in Guelph since 1983 and is active in church, Indigenous culture and Truth and Reconciliation work as a facilitator of the Kairos Blanket Exercise.

Deacon Scott Knarr is Diaconal Minister of Music at Mount Zion Evangelical Lutheran Church in Waterloo. Over the past 5 years, he has worked with members of Six Nations of the Grand River to facilitate music activities for youth and young adults. He is inspired by the resilience of our First Nations neighbours and grateful for the insights which our partnership awakens on our journey of faith.

Dr. Gerard Yun, Asst. Professor of Community Music, Wilfrid Laurier University Instructor and Performer, Japanese Shakuhachi. Ensemble director, multi-instrumentalist, composer, conductor, and scholar Dr. Gerard Yun brings together training in Western classical musics (DMA in choral/orchestral conducting) and world music traditions (Japanese Shakuhachi, Asian Overtone Singing, West-African Kora, South African Choir, Mbira, Didgeridoo, and Native flute) bridging cultures through community music practices and forms. As a professor of music at Wilfrid Laurier University and the Waterloo Lutheran Seminary, he teaches courses in Community Music, Critical Music Studies, and Global Citizenship.
